$50,000 Fund Approved for River Festival

An appropriation of $50,000 for the Illinois Arts Council—including a "minimum" grant of $50,000 for the Mississippi River Festival at SIU-SW this summer—was approved by the Illinois Senate at Springfield Tuesday.

The measure already has passed the House and now goes to the Governor for his signature.

State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), Senate sponsor of the appropriation bill, obtained passage of the grants after pressing for immediate action. The bill was approved by the narrow margin of only one vote.

The vote was 31-7, with 30 votes needed for passage. Twelve Republicans and 19 Democrats voted for the bill. Seven Republicans opposed it.

Theodore H. Mikesell, executive director of the Southwest Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, confirmed yesterday that he has declined a position as executive director of the Northeast Ohio Area-wide Coordinating Agency.

Denying published reports that he had accepted the Ohio post, Mikesell said only that, "I was offered the job and I turned it down. It's that simple."

He cited "professional and moral obligations" to SIMAPC as his reasons for remaining here and said he felt he could remain while the commission was engaged in two major sewer-water studies.

A budget of $8.1 million for construction at the Chain of Rocks Locks has been approved by the House Appropriations Committee, according to U. S. Rep. Melvin Price.

It was among budget items totaling $30,000,000 approved for six navigation and flood control projects in the southern Illinois area.

Others include $18 million for construction of the Kaskaskia navigation project, $250,000 for planning for the proposed hillside drainage project, $1,380,000 for advanced engineering and design planning at Alton Lock and Dam, $2 million for Mississippi river regulating work to maintain a navigational channel between the Missouri and Ohio Rivers and $60,000 for continued study on the Silver Creek Reservoir.

Price sought $505,000 for the Hillside drainage project but the request for that amount was made too late, it was reported.

A vote on the appropriations by the full House was expected late this week.

Suits Filed to Place Personal Tax in Escrow

Madison County State's Attorney R. W. Griffith filed suit yesterday afternoon in Circuit Court to restrain County Treasurer George Musso from distributing taxes on personal property assessed in 1971 and payable this year to local tax authorities.

The document asks that the tax money be placed in escrow for possible return to taxpayers in the future. The suit would not prohibit the treasurer from collecting the taxes.

A companion suit for an injunction to stop Musso from collecting the taxes was filed yesterday.

The tax funds would be held in escrow pending new state legislation or a decision by the U. S. Supreme Court on an appeal of a Cook County Circuit Court ruling that a constitutional amendment and state legislation abolishing the personal property tax is illegal.

Griffith maintains that an emergency exists as taxpayers paying the personal property tax this summer would be ineligible for a refund in case of a favorable high court ruling.

Pay Under Protest. His suit states that the only alternative would be for the taxpayer to pay the tax under protest, which would entail a court suit and a filing fee. He claims there is no uniform statute or legal decision to protect taxpayers and their right to a refund in the event the personal property tax on individuals is found to be unconstitutional and prohibited.

Griffith stresses that current law provides that taxes paid voluntarily without protest are not recoverable.

The companion suit was filed by Marshall Smith, former assistant state attorney, in behalf of Max Otto Body, against Robert J. Lehnhausen, director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, Miss Eulalia Hiez, county clerk, and Musso.

It was filed for the firm and all others similarly situated and asked that the personal property tax funds be placed in escrow.

Murder Victim's Identity Sought

Venice police were attempting today to identify a young man whose body was found partially wrapped in two bedspreads in a field near the new Broadway underpass Monday afternoon.

The victim's left chest was punctured by shotgun wound. Six lead shot and a piece of plastic shell wadding were removed from his chest.

An autopsy revealed the victim had been shot with a shotgun. Six lead shot and a piece of plastic shell wadding were removed from his chest.

From the condition of the body, police estimated the man had been dead three or four days when found. They estimated his age as in the mid-20s. He was 5 feet, 9 inches tall.

Found among the victim's clothing was one pair of dice. No wallet or identification papers were found. The young man, who was black, was wearing one boot on his left foot. The right boot was found in the field nearby.

The body was removed to a Granite City funeral home where the autopsy was performed by Dr. R. L. Patrick, a pathologist.

Venice police contacted area police departments in Illinois and Missouri who searched missing persons reports in an attempt to identify the victim.

Copies of the victim's fingerprints were sent to the St. Louis and East St. Louis police departments but no matching sets were found. Yesterday, Venice police sent copies of the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Illinois State Bureau of Identification.

Officers speculated the man was shot, wrapped in the bedspreads and brought to the field, probably in a car trunk, where he was dumped.

County Land Use Plan 'Flexible'

By GARY SCHNEIDER Press-Record Staff Writer

A proposed Madison County Plan which includes land use regulations is a flexible document and can be reviewed and updated constantly, according to development in the county.

The proposed plan for development was outlined to more than 100 county, city and village officials during the meeting last night at the Round Table Restaurant on Highway 157. The meeting was called by Alton May, chairman of the Madison County Land Use Committee of the county board.

Among those attending were Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the county board; Jack Clifford, county zoning administrator; Miss Nilda Soler, community planning and management consultant for the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD); Bob Cull, representing the state Department of Transportation.

Miss Thelma Renshaw of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; Eugene Moody, executive director of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council; and Al Berg, director of planning for the Gateway Council.

Also Attended. Theodore Mikesell, executive director of SIMAPC; John Belleoff, president of SIMAPC; Howard Kaseberg, chairman of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals; four members of the new five-member county zoning board; nearly all members of the county board and several mayors from cities and villages in the county, including Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Mayor Otto Krehmer of Pontoon Beach. Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City and Mayor John E. Lee of Venice sent representatives to the meeting.

In opening the meeting, May explained that objections to the plan would not be heard at the meeting. "This is not a hearing. We called this meeting to refresh your memories on the plan," May said.

He explained that the plan could be revised to meet the needs of the county.

"Some areas were not developed before when the plan was developed. They have been planned since, and we will incorporate these into the plan," May told the officials.

Darden showed slides of the present development in the county and explained that the proposed county plan details the "logical development" of the county with respect to transportation and land use.

Shows Slides. He showed a slide of proposed development areas with residential development around the three major urban areas in the county, the Quad-Cities, Alton-Wood River and Edwardsville-Collinsville.

He explained that future development should be in logical lines and areas so that sewers, utilities, police protection and

Madison Bans Alcohol At Baseball Fields

An ordinance banning possession of alcoholic beverages on or near city playgrounds and baseball diamonds was passed by the Madison City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The council also approved the installation of an alley light at the rear of 1821 Edwardsville Road and appointed Frank Papa as a summer employee for maintenance of city buildings.

Mayor Mike Sasyk announced that the Finance Committee will meet at 7 p.m. Friday at City Hall and that a meeting is planned early next week to discuss a city landfill proposal.

The next meeting of the council, which was to have been July 4, was changed to July 5 because of the Independence Day Holiday. The meeting hour also was changed from 8 p.m. to 7 p.m.

City to Study Sanitary, Storm Sewer Separation

The Pollution Plant Committee of the Granite City Council will undertake a study of plans for treatment of stormwater overflow from the city's present combined sewers, as compared to the financial and procedural requirements for total separation of storm and sanitary sewers. It was decided by council members Monday night.

The action was initiated on a suggestion by Mayor Donald Partney, now ill and confined to a St. Louis hospital, who wrote the council in response to an earlier letter sent to the mayor by the M. W. Architects & Engineers, a St. Louis planning firm handling the city's secondary sewage treatment plant project.

Acting on the mayor's suggestion that the city look into both the procedure for treatment of overflow stormwater, as urged for the present in the letter by the engineering firm, and the possibility of separating the present combined stormwater and sanitary sewers, the committee referred the matter to the Pollution Plant Committee.

The mayor said the eventual separation of present combined sewers "would be a more costly operation, but in a period of time would be a much greater savings to the taxpayers."

The mayor and council were told in the letter from the engineering firm, signed by Ray Haller, vice-president of the M. W. Environmental Engineering Division, that total separation of storm and sanitary sewers obviously is the "ultimate answer" to Granite City's problem of satisfying the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency regulations, but that the cost would be far too high for the city to meet at this time.

Haller's letter said: "The question has arisen recently regarding treatment of combined sewage (stormwater and sanitary mixed) versus separation of storm and sanitary sewers in Granite City. We are presently proceeding with design of a system for treatment of stormwater overflow in accordance with our contract with the city and a directive from the Illinois EPA to the city to 'provide minimum primary treatment to combined sewer overflow by January, 1974.'"

"Separation of storm and sanitary sewers was viewed by our firm as an alternate solution. In March 1971, at the time we were retained as engineers for the current project, this alternative was dismissed on the basis of excess cost to the local constituents.

"Obviously, total separation of storm and sanitary sewers is the ultimate answer to Granite City's problem of satisfying EPA regulations regarding discharges to the Mississippi River and for local flooding. The city has been working to this end in steps according to a master plan for such separation as prepared in a report in 1961.

"For separating the remaining sewers in the city, the costs, as outlined in this report, would be $7.6 million at present day prices in accordance with increases in costs per the Engineering News-Record Index for 1973 (earliest data in which sewers could be built)."

"At present, the federal and state EPA will make grants to the city of 80% of the cost for stormwater treatment, whereas the only grant money available for storm and sanitary sewer separation is from HUD, which would amount to a maximum of $1.5 million for any one project. Obviously, the answer would be to separate sewers in multiple projects so that two or three grants of $1.5 million could be obtained. This takes time.

"Assuming that the order to stop stormwater pollution by 1973 is valid, we have proposed the proper alternative which is stormwater treatment costing approximately $3 million (about $600,000 cost to city)."

"Thus the cost and funding to the city is compared as follows: Stormwater treatment, cost $3 million, cost to city $600,000; storm and sanitary sewer separation, cost $7.6 million, cost to city $1.5 million.

New Task Force' to Spearhead UF Drive

Formation of a new group to spearhead the 1973 Campaign of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund this fall was announced today by campaign Drive Chairman Paul H. Kelly, plant manager at A. O. Smith Corp.

The new group will be known as the campaign "task force" and will organize all facets of the campaign. It also will serve as a communication center on progress of the fund drive.

Members of the task force are Lew Frazar, administrative assistant to the president, General Steel Industries; Mitch Milonski, assistant works manager, American Steel Foundries; Walter Shuran, plant superintendent, The Nestle Co.; Don Tredner, manager of procurement, A. O. Smith; and Dick West, senior expeditor, Granite City Steel Co.

Kelly said, "This first meeting of the task force marks the start of our United Fund campaign. We will be working on it from now on, and we'll be gradually picking up steam.

"It will take an outstanding effort this year . . . we are to make the goal . . . and we intend to make it."

The official United Fund goal has not yet been set, although an announcement of it is expected shortly. Lengthy meetings already have been held by the UF Admissions and Distribution committee with all member agencies to discuss the "needs" for 1973, and the goal will be based on those needs.

The fund-raising drive will start the first week in October, and the first report meeting is scheduled for Oct. 11.

Some One Owe High Bills. Rutledge noted, however, that "we're not after the person who owes $2.70. We know we will collect that bill after the user has been notified his service will be shut off . . . it's the people who owe $2,000 or $3,000 that are hard to collect from, and we think this will force payment."

Rutledge cited one business firm that owed $3,300 in sewer fees. "We finally collected it, but we had to take him to court," the treasurer said.

He added that an ordinance authorizing sewer cutoffs "would bring payment a lot quicker than the long procedure necessary for court action."

In other action Monday night the council awarded a contract

Switchboat Services Employed at Locks

A contract has been approved by the U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, that will provide temporary switchboat services at the Chain of Rocks Locks 27 on the Mississippi River at Granite City for 50 days during the construction of an upstream guideway.

The interim service contract, which went into service last week with Wood River Harbor Service for use of the M/V Stutler. Another contract for identical services will be awarded later but will be for the balance of time required to complete the construction of the upper guideway extension.

The need for the service stems from the closure of an upstream guideway. During construction, the auxiliary lock is closed to all traffic and the main lock upper approach is restricted to two barge widths instead of the normal three for approximately 48 days.

This will necessitate breaking the tow. The towboat will enter the lock with two strings of barges and the switchboat will take the third string into the lock.

The reason for implementing the switch boat service is to provide the greatest safety factor possible during the construction, as the boats moving through the locks must pass extremely close to the construction.

The safety of lock operating personnel, construction personnel working within the cofferdam and for crews aboard the vessels using the locks is the major concern. Three accidents have occurred since construction began in March. Even with the switch boat service, delays to vessels will be experienced during construction.

Efforts to identify the gunshot victim have been unsuccessful.

New SIU-SW Techniques Include Advanced Graduate Programs

(To meet changing needs of society, universities across the country are developing new degree programs and classroom experiences. Some of the teaching doesn't even occur on the campus. This is the third in a series outlining some of the changes taking place at SIU-SW.)

Innovative course formats and teaching techniques, some being used with students never having to set foot on the campus to receive their degree, are part of the academic experimentation at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Among the most experimental formats are the University's advanced graduate programs leading to a master of science in government or to a master's degree in business administration.

Coursework for the government degree is offered in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville. Coursework for the business administration degree is offered at 10 Military Airlift Command bases—nine throughout the United States and one in the Azores Islands.

The courses are designed primarily for professionals who cannot attend regular classes at SIU-SW because of their jobs. The government courses are taught during three intensive Saturday and Sunday sessions spaced throughout the academic quarter.

Research and writing of in-depth papers is done by students between the weekend sessions. Teaching is done by faculty from the SIU-SW department of government and public affairs and other SIU-SW faculty, plus specialists from other universities. The Washington, D. C., program has a full-time resident director.

Courses at the Military Airlift Command bases are taught by the SIU-SW Business Division's graduate faculty. Open to military managers and civilians with bachelor degrees, the program began in November 1969, and produced its first graduates in October 1971. Each course has two three-day periods of intensive classroom work plus two periods of individual study.

Pay Standard Fee
Students pay the standard graduate school tuition and must meet all academic qualifications for an SIU-SW graduate student.

"These off-campus programs are breaking down geographic and staffing barriers," said John Ellsworth, SIU-SW assistant vice-president for extramural and interdisciplinary programs.

"There is a real demand for these programs from the government, the military and private agencies. There is no way the people in these programs can simply take two years off to get an advanced degree, so we are giving them first-rate instruction without interfering with their jobs."

Ellsworth said the programs are part of an investigation "on how we deliver knowledge in people who can't live four years within the ivy walls. Commuter campuses like ours and community colleges also start, but only a start."

In the Business Division, the University's experience program allows students to alternate on-campus coursework with off-campus job experience related to what they have studied in the classroom. A freshman year of full-time study is followed by four years of alternate six-month periods of work and study.

During the work periods, students are engaged in supervisory employment in business, industry or government. For example, the University's close contact with employers makes it possible to assign an accounting position to an accounting major. At the end of five years, the student has a bachelor's degree in business administration and two years of specialized work experience.

The Business Division also is experimenting with new educational methods in its Management Problem Laboratory. Programs were designed by faculty majoring in business administration. Laboratory programs were designed by faculty from the SIU-SW departments or course areas of economics, marketing, accounting, finance, communications, legal environment, management, science and organizational behavior.

In the laboratory situation, students work as management teams pursuing actual management problems. James Miller, assistant dean of the Business Division, said the program is flexible for students who work at an accelerated pace.

"We want to make educational course material relevant to the real world of work," Miller said. "We focus on real problems—the major objective of the division is to tie together teaching, research and community service."

Students at the University are finding courses established by individual instructors that get away from the traditional curriculum. During the spring quarter faculty members from the departments of philosophy, history and government and public affairs team-teach a course called "The Problem of War and Peace." Students in Education Division courses are learning about their own teaching potential through microteaching labs, which they present a lesson in a simulated classroom situation. The lesson is videotaped and the student is able to view his classroom performance within minutes. The performance also is critiqued by an instructor.

The needs of gifted students are being recognized by the University. Experience program 14 area high school juniors will begin classes at SIU-SW as part of an experimental program.

The students will have the option of returning to their high schools for the senior year or remaining at the University, provided they maintain a 3.5 grade point on a 4-point scale during the summer.

Also being instituted at SIU-SW for students with advanced knowledge is the increase of proficiency examinations, allowing students to test out of courses in which they already have command of the material. Ellsworth sees many of the experiments as procedures that must be tried, even if success is not guaranteed.

"We're trying new ways to structure programs, to get away from the traditional rigidity," Ellsworth said. "We need to remain flexible."

Storm Sewers

$600,000 repayment by sewer revenue bonds; sewer separation, cost $7.6 million, cost to city $5.6 million, repayment by property taxes.

"The result is that about one-sixth of the sewer revenue will go for stormwater treatment versus an increase in the city tax rate of 23c per $100."

"In order to take advantage of maximum grant monies, we propose that you treat stormwater now and continue to gradually separate sewers as funds become available."

"The obvious benefits are as follows:

"1. Lower cost to city now—$600,000 versus $5,000,000.

"2. Treatment of stormwater will enable the City to more realistically meet the 1974 deadline of EPA.

"3. The treatment facilities now being proposed can become permanent treatment units for future plant expansion and thus will be useable regardless of separation.

"4. The stormwater treatment system is necessary in any case as our experience will testify to the fact that separation of sewers does not eliminate all of stormwater intrusion. The reason for this is that in an old system there exists infiltration of ground water, illegal downspouts and yard drains, footing drains, and other surface water entries from private property which cannot logically be legislated out by ordinances.

"5. Sewer separation can continue gradually without legal action from the EPA as a result of non-compliance to orders."

Mayor Answers

In response to Haller's letter, Mayor Partney wrote the council members:

"In answer to Mr. Haller's statement to the Pollution Plant Committee whereby all storm water drainage must be treated before entering the Mississippi River, I disagree with this statement and also that it is an order from EPA to treat all surface water. If this were true, all streams, lakes and drainage canals would have to be treated before it would be allowed to enter the river.

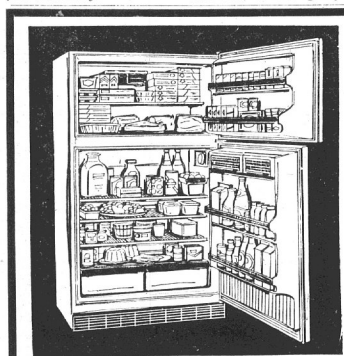

"My understanding of EPA's order is that this only applies to combination sewer systems. If the city of Granite City would go into a separation system, this would be a more costly operation, but in a period of time would be a much greater savings to the taxpayer.

"I think the committee should take a look at both propositions."

The council, by unanimous vote, referred Partney's suggestion to the Pollution Plant Committee headed by Alderman R. E. Robertson.

Shriners Blood Donor Program July 6 in GC

The Ainal Temple Legion of Honor, in cooperation with the Tri-City Shrine Club, will host its semi-annual "Blood Donor Program" at the air-conditioned Nameoki Methodist Church, 1700 Poston Road from 2 to 7 p.m. Thursday, July 6. The public is invited to participate.

Individuals donating blood will insure their family's blood needs for one year. Blood obtained during the program will be used for area children who are patients at the Shriners' Burns Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Avery Schermer, Tri-City Shrine Club president, said the July 6 date was chosen due to its proximity to the Fourth of July holiday weekend, a critical time for whole blood needs when accidents and summer mishaps are at their highest peak.

Whole blood will be used locally, primarily at St. Elizabeth Hospital, with credit units transferred to the Cincinnati Burns Institute, he said.

At the present time about 20 area youngsters have received blood at the burns hospital that was replaced, Schermer explained, noting that one child required a total of 83 pints during treatment and restoration work.

The Red Cross will provide three Bloodmobile units, with nine beds, eliminating any delay to donors, the club president reported.

Persons wishing to contribute blood may get additional information by contacting Don Kopp, chairman, at 931-6273, or any Shriner.

Jennison-Wright Closed by Strike

Production at The Jennison-Wright Corp., 22nd Street and the railroad tracks, was halted Monday as 48 members of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America Local 2963 struck when their contract with the company expired.

The former three-year contract expired at midnight Sunday and the union membership declined to accept new company offers and voted to strike at 7:30 a.m. Monday. No negotiating sessions have been held since the strike began and none are planned, a company spokesman said today.

About 12 supervisory and office personnel remained at work this week and the plant security personnel, members of the striking union, agreed to remain on the job. The plant manufactures wood block flooring and processes creosoted railroad ties.

Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City remained in St. Luke's Hospital, St. Louis, today, undergoing tests to determine the cause of a sudden illness he suffered in his City Hall office June 2.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council reported this week that additional park or recreational land is needed in nearly two out of every three communities in the Illinois metropolitan region.

The report said 39 communities in the region fall short of the national municipal standard of five acres of recreational land per 1,000 residents. Twenty-one communities in the region meet or exceed the standard.

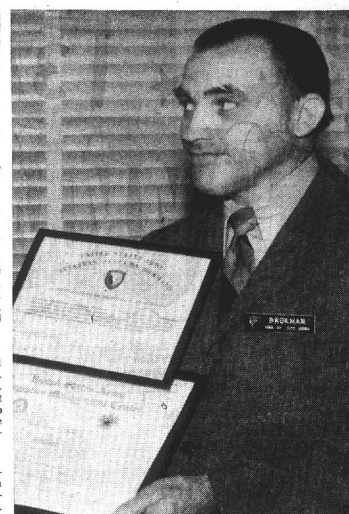

Madison County communities and the amount of land needed to meet the standard are: Granite City, 61.5 acres; Madison, 32.6 acres; Pontoon Beach, 12.4; Glen Carbon, 9.4; Alhambra, 2.8; Alton, 45.5; Bethalto, 35.4; Collinsville, 48.8; East Alton, 7.6; Edwardsville, 22.3; Livingston, 4.6; South Roxana, 10.4; St. Jacob, 3.2; Williamson, 1.6; Wood River, 13, and Worden, 3.4.

Illinois Power Co. Tuesday filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission in Springfield a petition requesting an across-the-board increase in electric rates of approximately 15% to its residential, commercial, and industrial customers. The filing today would yield about $23,000,000 annually in increased electric revenues. It would be the first electric rate increase for the company since 1958.

No increase in gas rates is proposed. Last June, the company filed an increase in electric rates amounting to about $21,500,000 in increased electric revenue annually. The Illinois Commerce Commission last month turned that request down in its entirety.

Under the rates filed Tuesday, a residential customer using 530 kilo-watt-hours a month would pay about 6.7 cents a day (or $2 a month) more for electricity.

If the plan is adopted by the county board, it will be used by federal and state agencies in reviewing grant applications. Darden said, "Since it is the only document we now have, even though it is unofficial, it presently is being used by the state and federal governments in evaluating our proposed programs," Darden told the officials.

The county plan also is being used by SIMAPC and other planning bodies for sewer and water plans, park planning and other development plans.

Darden suggested the officials allow the county planning commission to study and evaluate the document before requesting changes or attempting to defeat the entire plan.

Hagnauer said that the county board is "100% behind the new county planning commission" and said the board members had full faith in the decisions the commission would reach concerning zoning, land use and planning.

Cyclist Evel Knievel Plans To Jump Despite Broken Back

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Even with his back and several ribs broken from a serious motorcycle accident in Oklahoma, daredevil cyclist Evel Knievel will attempt to jump his motorcycle over 10 to 15 cars during programs Saturday and Sunday at St. Louis International Raceway.

"Here I am, I am betting $100,000 that no man alive with a broken back can jump a cycle over half as many cars as I can," Knievel said during a press conference in St. Louis Tuesday. He indicated that challengers should bring their doctors and their motorcycles to the drag strip.

"If I make the jump Saturday without getting hurt too seriously, I will jump again Sunday and I will try to jump over more cars Sunday than I did Saturday if I can," he said.

The 33-year-old daredevil from Butte, Mont., has had 14 serious falls on motorcycles during his career, including one at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas which broke nearly every bone in his body. "Doctors said I would never live and later said I would never walk again, but 33 days later I walked out of the hospital," he recalled.

"I have never lost my life. That's one bone I haven't broken," Knievel stated. His latest injuries were the result of a ramp-to-ramp practice jump over five cars where his motorcycle cleared not only the autos but the landing ramp. "They gave me a new motorcycle and I simply misjudged my jump. That's something I should not do," he said.

Grand Canyon Jump Asked when he would retire from the daredevil business, Knievel, related he plans a climax to his career, a jump of nearly one mile over the Grand Canyon on July 4, 1973. "If I live through that, I will retire from this business. Until that time, if I think of anything crazy to do that no one has ever done, I will do it," he said.

He related that the top men from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, top engineers and car builder and racer A. J. Foyt, are helping to design his jet-powered motorcycle, the "Rocket Cycle," with which he plans to jump over the Grand Canyon.

"If I make it, I will probably drop to my knees, grab a big handful of dirt and grass and thank God I'm alive," he told the gathering.

Glad to Be Alive Asked why he continues even after several near-fatal falls, Knievel responded, "Every man has to be happy with the man he greets in the mirror each day. I am happy with myself and I am probably more happy to be alive than any man in the world."

Knievel's jumps are set for 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Also on the program are the "Little Red Wagon" jump standing funny car, and a complete drag racing program including funny cars.

Gates will open at 4 p.m. Saturday with qualifying events and the regular program beginning at 8:30 p.m. Gates will be open on Sunday for qualifications at 8 a.m., with the program starting at 2 p.m.

Duck Stamps Raised to $5

The cost of the migratory bird hunting stamp, which is commonly known as the duck stamp, will be increased this year from $3 to $5 for the 1972-73 Waterfowl season.

The reason for the increase is the dramatic spiral in cost for obtaining new waterfowl habitat. All proceeds from the sale of duck stamps go into a fund set aside for the acquisition of wetlands and refuges for migratory birds.

The duck stamp is required for everyone who hunts waterfowl and has reached his 16th birthday. State hunting licenses are also required, according to Dean G. Tresch, U.S. game management agent, of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, Division of Management and Enforcement stationery.

The increase in the duck stamp is the first since 1959 when the cost went from $2 to $3. The stamp was put into effect by Congress in 1934. This year the stamp will depict two emperor geese in arctic surroundings and will go on sale at U.S. Post Offices on July 1.

Flamer said "Some of the top schools in the nation were after his services."

Rookie 'Steeles' Show At Motorcycle Races

First-year rookie motorcycle racer Al Steele of Alton nearly upset the tables on the veteran riders during the weekly American Motorcycle Association Sanctioned races Tuesday night at the Tri-City Speedway.

Steele, one of the fastest qualifiers of the evening, made himself known as he placed second on the No. 3P bike, in the trophy dash to Mike Johnson of Flint, Mich. The fastest qualifiers from time-trials are pitted in the event, and it is rare for a rookie even to make the lineup.

Steele then stole the show in the second heat race, finishing in front of second-place John Skinner and third-place Delmar Deiss Jr. of Pekin.

In the second semi-feature of the evening, Steele finished second, expiring Charles Chapelle of Flint, Mich., with Johnson third.

Keen Has Problems In preliminary events, it became clear that last year's track champion, Neil Keen of Springfield, was having problems with his bike and that Charles Steele of Lantana, Fla., was going to be the man to beat in the feature race.

Steele placed third to Ray Chapelle and Ken Hapke of Centralia in the first heat and a second-place move up to second position behind Steele of Waterloo, Iowa.

Steele then won the first semi-feature event to qualify for the feature. In that semi-feature, he was trailed by Droste and John Skinner.

Others who qualified for the feature included the first, second and third-place finishers in the fourth heat, Charles Brower of Alton, Richard Cape of St. David and Randy Schloemann of Belleville.

Steele Wins Feature In the feature, Steele took an early lead and fended off pressure from Steele, Ray Chapelle and Droste until the final turn when Steele went past on the inside to take the checkered flag, his front wheel just inches in front of Steele's. Ray Chapelle, third, trailed by Droste, Johnson and Hapke.

Motorcycle racing at the Tri-City Speedway will resume next Tuesday evening with time-trials at 7 p.m. and the first heats at 8 p.m.

Fast Lap Bonus Target For Speedway Drivers

Although Bill Utz of Sedalia, Mo., defeated the "wanted" three-time super-print race champion Tom Corbin of Carrollton, Mo., in last week's feature race at the Tri-City Speedway to collect a $25 bounty on Corbin's head, another $25 bounty remains in effect for any driver who can break the track's sprint qualifying record of 23.40 seconds on the half-mile clay oval.

The record was set last year by Bobby Jones of Danville who was just retired from the local track to compete in United States Auto Club (USAC)-sanctioned events throughout the country.

Corbin, who was edged out by Utz by only one-half of a car length Friday night will attempt to regain the top position as the weekly races continue tomorrow evening.

In seven feature races this year, Corbin has had three victories and finished second twice. His qualifying times, which have all been in the 23 and 24 second marks, also give him an excellent chance to break Jones' qualifying record.

Also racing tomorrow night will be a large field of late model stock cars, all trying to stay in front of the No. 44 Camaro of Wil Spalding of Pontoon Beach, feature winner last week and the top man in four of the season's seven features.

Time trials tomorrow will begin at 7:30 p.m. with racing at 8:00 p.m.

Griddler to Return
Willie Ackers of Venice, a sophomore wingback, will return to the Northeast Missouri State College football team, which will play an 11-game schedule this fall.

Legion Splits 2, Play Here Friday

Hurling efficiency was abundant but Granite City's American Legion baseball team settled for a split of two games this week, blasting Alton 9-5 Tuesday in a road game and bowing to Edwardsville 2-1 yesterday at the Coolidge diamond.

John Stanton pitched a three-hitter while fanning nine and walking two for Granite City, but back-up power at the plate was lacking as Edwardsville's (6-0) Dave Rieger held the local team to one hit—by Mike Stanton in the fourth. Rieger fanned six and walked three. A bad bounce in the sixth inning on a drive by John Urban gave Edwardsville the game. It was good for a triple as the ball skidded over the center fielder's head. It came with a man on, and Urban scored on a single.

Granite City took a lead in the first inning without a hit. Jack Scarborough walked with one out, Martinez was safe on an error, and Frank Strohmer and Tim Leyerla walked.

Vic Reznack had a no-bitter going until Alton blasted out with five runs and six hits in the bottom of the seventh inning. He was relieved by Randy Sturdivant with two out in the frame and the rally ended.

Granite City, with 14 hits, scored once in the second and third frames and twice in the fourth before icing it with five in the seventh.

Mike Martinez had a four-for-four day at the plate, including two doubles. Collecting two hits each were Jim Forrester, Scarborough, Steve Burdige, Mike Stanton and Reznack.

Granite City, now 3-3 for the season, will host Wood River's Legion team Friday at Coolidge.

THAT'S SOME SNAKE. Reptile giggers Jerry Gerkin, 16, left, of 10 1/2 Jones Park, and Rick Breeden, 16, of 9 Jones Park, display what is believed to be a cottonmouth which they caught in a swampy area off of Route 162. It is 4 feet, 2 inches long and the breed is not usual in this climate.

Stevenson Believed Determined to Move Up National Political Scale

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service

Springfield — The renewal of feuding between Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson II has touched off a new whirl of Statehouse speculation.

Virtually nothing is ruled out. Beneath the Capitol dome there is a growing feeling that far from giving up on the vice-presidential goal, Stevenson is more determined than ever to move up high on the national party scale this year and is nourishing a long-shot dream for the presidential nomination itself.

Regardless of the final outcome of his Illinois power struggle with the aging, and perhaps fading, Daley, Stevenson already has reaped a flood of nationwide publicity. Once again the name Adlai Stevenson is bouncing about the country and old memories are being revived.

Those who have followed the career of young Adlai from the Springfield viewing stage are convinced he would not have ended the pleasant and profitable true with Daley unless he saw an opportunity for big stakes nationally.

The damage being caused to the Democratic party in Illinois would not be worth it. Even if he should in the end complete ly replace Daley as the state Stevenson would be weakening his own chances for re-election a short two years away.

Would Face Scott
The long-range Statehouse view is that he will be facing a reelected, young, vigorous, popular Republican William J. Scott with an outstanding two-term record as attorney general.

The outcome of a Stevenson-Scott race rates as a toss-up in the political morning line. So far, Stevenson has the edge.

By going to the mat with Daley, Stevenson may regain some lost standing with the liberal wing of the Democrat party with its own power bases in New York and Washington. The Democrat liberals nationally as well as in Illinois have never been happy with Stevenson's cuddling up to Daley and were somewhat annoyed by his shift to conservatism in the successful 1970 senatorial campaign.

pleases Easters
By renouncing his political whine horse and tilting again with the mayor, Stevenson not only placates the influential easterners but he also ensures to some extent his early identification with the diminishing presidential fortunes of Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

Stevenson in his new military cy can gain in any of three ways.

He carries favors with the national liberal forces lined up behind South Dakota Sen. George McGovern and could conceivably fit into their plans as a vice presidential candidate should McGovern indeed carry the day at Miami.

As a former Muskie man, once again in good graces with the liberal wing, Adlai would be in the front rank for the second spot if Muskie's presidential fortunes should revive.

Most fascinating of all, Stevenson with his famous name bolstered by the flood of national publicity could himself emerge as a dramatic possibility to break any deadlock that might well arise if Democrats continue to stumble in deciding on a clear choice for President.

At the Statehouse this is what Stevenson watchers believe Adlai has in mind.

SOYBEAN EXTENDERS ON THE MARKET

By 1980 soybean extenders might replace 10 to 12% of the meat in processed items, reports the Economic Research Service (ERS) of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Soy extenders are made from soybean meal, and, depending on the amount of processing, they can take a variety of forms.

They are already being used by some institutions to cut costs.

Extenders have long been accepted in cooking. For instance, oatmeal is often used in meatloaf. The ERS points out that soy extenders are not only low in cost but they can also improve some processed meat items. Added to ground meat, they reduce cooking losses by absorbing the water and fat that cook out of the meat. And used in moderate amounts, soy extenders do not appreciably change the meat's flavor.

HINTS ON COOKING FOR ONE OR TWO

1. Buy food in the amounts that can be easily stored and used. Large economy sizes are not a bargain if a part of it is wasted.
2. Buy a variety of foods. Include milk, fruits and vegetables, meats, bread and cereals.
3. If there is a place to keep frozen food, buy the loose dry package of vegetables. Cook only the amount needed for that meal.
4. Instant non-fat dry milk is much less expensive than fresh fluid milk. Just add water, according to package directions. This can be used by itself or along with fluid milk.
5. A pound of ground beef is too much for one meal. The part that you do not cook, make into patties, wrap separately and freeze.
6. Small packages of convenience foods such as meat pies or individual servings of meats are handy, but costly.
7. Usually money is saved by going to the grocery store less often but there are other factors to be considered. Maybe there is no transportation and you can purchase only what you can carry. For some people going to the grocery store is an excuse for getting out. It is a relaxation, a way to get exercise, a way to see people.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD Page 8 Thur., June 22, 1972

8. Collect and use recipes for one or two servings. Dishes with meat and vegetables might be an answer. This along with a salad might make a complete meal.

9. As one gets older usually the sense of taste and smell isn't as good as it was. This is thought to be one cause of diminishing appetite. The situation is made worse by the false notions that spicy, seasoned foods are not good for older folks. Unless there is a specific digestive disorder, diagnosed by the doctor, there is no reason why an older person cannot tolerate seasonings as well as ever. Spicy foods can perk up appetite.

10. Plan the food for the day. This might be 2, 3, or 4 meals. Be sure there is a variety of foods.

11. Allow plenty of time to prepare the food. Do as much ahead of time as possible. This will help to prevent fatigue.

12. Take time to eat your meals. Sit down at the table or serve the meal on a tray with a pretty place mat. If there is a pretty view from your window, take your tray and chair there so you can enjoy the view while you are eating. Do not eat your food while standing at the kitchen counter.

13. Maybe you might want to invite friends in for a pot-luck dinner. Food often tastes better when you have friends to eat with.

14. Appetite might increase if you take a walk if it is a nice day. If you do stay indoors, do odd jobs that require light exercise.

COOKING FROZEN MEAT

Roasts cooked without thawing produce the same amount of meat as do roasts partially or completely thawed before cooking. But the frozen roasts may take up to one and a half times as long to cook as the unfrozen cuts of the same weight and shape.

Frozen steaks take one and a half to two times as long to broil as unfrozen steaks. When broiling frozen steaks, use a low temperature so that the surface does not char before the inside thaws and cooks.

TENDER CUTS OF BEEF
Regardless of their quality grade, some cuts of beef are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the back of the animal—the rib and loin sections—will always be more tender than those from the active muscles, such as the shoulder (chuck), flank, and round.

The most tender cuts make up only a small proportion of the beef carcass, and they are in greatest demand. Therefore, they command a higher price than other cuts.

PREVENTING MILDEW

Take time now to prevent mildew. It can become a serious problem during the muggy summer months.

Molds cause mildew. Always present in the air, the molds grow in areas that are damp, warm, poorly aired, and poorly lighted.

Mildew is a thin, often whitish growth produced on many kinds of surfaces. In homes, it is found most often on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood, and paper. Many man-made fibers resist mildew.

Places where mildew is often a problem include cellars, crawl spaces, clothes closets, basements, recreation rooms, and shower areas.

In addition to leaving a musty odor, the molds can cause considerable damage. They destroy color fabrics and sometimes eat into them so severely that fabrics rot and fall apart. Damp clothes rolled for ironing are highly susceptible to mildew.

Yong advertising and suggestions for preventing mildew: —Keep items as clean as possible to discourage mildew growth. In the state legislature, on the federal level, write to your congressman or one of your senators.

In basements, try to remove the source of moisture. For instance, repair leaks, waterproof the walls, and vent dryers to the outside. Air conditioners and dehumidifiers also help to remove excessive moisture from the air.

Heating the house for a short period of time and then opening doors and windows will help remove the moisture-laden air.

To dry the air in closets and other small areas, keep an electric light bulb burning continuously. If the space is not too large, the heat will be sufficient to prevent mildew. Be certain, however, to place the bulb so it is not a fire hazard.

—Use silica gel, activated alumina, or calcium chloride to absorb moisture from the air. Such chemicals are sold by department stores, drugstores and building-supply dealers.

KEEPING FINANCIAL RECORDS

The federal government can question tax returns within three years of the April filing date or within six years if you omit from gross income an amount equaling 25 percent of the total. So keep your checks, receipts, supporting evidence, copies of withholding statements, and copies of tax returns for at least three years. You will need to keep them if improvement records longer than three years. The reason is that the tax on profit from the sale of a home is based on the difference between price received and cost plus improvement cost. Such records should be kept for three years after the sale of the house.

WHERE TO KEEP WILL

If you are concerned about where to keep the original copy of your will, talk to your lawyer about the problem. Sometimes it is best to store a will with your lawyer or corporate executor. You might then put a copy in your home file, noting the location of the original will.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

If you own real estate, your home file should contain a description of the property, location, date of purchase, price paid, and the place where the deed is recorded and the date. By keeping the deed and a copy of the mortgage in a safe deposit box, you eliminate the risk of having such hard-to-replace papers destroyed or stolen.

THINGS ON MAKING A CONSUMER COMPLAINT

Before making a complaint about a fabric or an apparel item that you believe has failed you, consider these questions to determine who is responsible for the faulty performance: —Did I follow care and use instructions? —Did I use the item for its intended purpose? —Did I have reasonable expectations for the product's performance during use?

If you answer "yes" to those questions, you may have a legitimate complaint. It's your responsibility as a consumer to notify the merchant or manufacturer of your dissatisfaction so that he can take constructive steps to improve his product.

Begin at the retail level by talking with the person who sold you the item. You can expect that it will be exchanged or that the store will take it back and return your money. If talking gets no results, take the next step: letter writing.

Write to the manufacturer, distributor or head office of the company. All items should carry the manufacturer's address so that you know where to send a letter of complaint. You can also find the correct name and address in the library's copy of Thomas' Register of Manufacturers or the Standard Directory of Advertisers.

Take the letter to your merchant and check its accuracy with him — model number, address, and so on.

Begin your letter with a short paragraph explaining your complaint. Tell what you have done to get redress, giving the name of the local merchant. Then make a polite request for help. Remember, no manufacturer wants poor customer relations.

Keep a copy of your letter for possible reference. If you don't receive a response within a month, take further steps. Send copies of your letter to important local and national figures involved in consumer issues. Be sure to notify the product manufacturer that you are taking further action. Companies obviously do not want bad publicity, and the fact that you are "spreading the word" may get you immediate results. However, be sure that your complaint is legitimate and that your expectations for the product's performance do not exceed reasonable limits. One national figure involved in consumer problems is Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, The White House, Washington, D. C. 20506.

To register a complaint concerning advertising and trade practices, write or phone your local Better Business Bureau. Or write to your representative in the state legislature. On the federal level, write to your congressman or one of your senators.

Trade associations are also becoming increasingly interested in hearing about and reducing consumer complaints. When appropriate, write to the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, 1601 Johnson Building, Charlotte, N. C. 28202, or to the National Retail Merchants Association, 100 West 31st Street, New York, New York 10001.

WHY USE FABRIC SOFTENER?

To make clothing and other washable household items soft and fluffy, add fabric softener to your laundry. In addition, fabric softener reduces or eliminates static cling.

Some fabrics no longer need ironing when softener is used. And the static dry with less-set wrinkles than before.

However, if used in excess, softeners can decrease a fabric's ability to absorb water. Since it's especially important that bath towels and diapers be absorbent, or occasional washing without a softener will restore the original absorbency. Although fabric softeners are available for use in the wash cycle, the most familiar products are those used in the rinse cycle. When using softeners, be sure to follow directions on the package.

Take care not to pour fabric softener directly on fabrics as it may cause staining. Should this occur, immediately hold the stained item under cool running water and rub the fabric with bar soap.

TEACH CHILDREN TO USE SEAT BELTS

Parents have the responsibility to teach their children about the use of seat belts—and to set a good example as well. Widespread use of seat belts will help reduce the number of traffic deaths. Set belts help lengthen the stopping distance of the body inside the car during an accident.

In action, seat belts keep the driver and rider in place so that the driver can devote his full attention to the job rather than be worried about other occupants.

Children 4 to 5 years should be protected with a vehicle lap belt. When a child reaches 55 inches in height, he should wear a vehicle shoulder belt in addition to the lap belts.

You can make a game of "buckling up" when children get into the car. To get ready for "take-off," your would-be space men, pilots, or truck drivers might consider these check points: Seat belt buck-

SIMAPC Meets Tonight

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission will meet at 6:30 p.m. today at Charlie's Restaurant with John Briggs, coordinator for executive reorganization of the Illinois Governor's Office, as the main speaker.

Window closed? Doors locked?

Many drivers buckled-up on the superhighway but ignore their seat belts while driving in town. Unfortunately, the majority of accidents happen in town and on the secondary roads rather than on the superhighways.

How you wear your seat belt is important. Wearing the belt too high can contribute to certain kinds of internal injuries in the event of an accident. Seat belts should be worn over the hips, not across the abdomen.

SAFE PAINTING PRACTICES

If your spring clean-up includes painting, be alert for fire hazards.

The development of water-based paint has taken much of the fire hazard out of painting, but the do-it-yourself painter must still read container labels carefully and act accordingly. The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) explains that the safest paint products are those labeled "non-combustible" or "non-flammable."

Next best from the standpoint of fire safety are those marked "caution-combustible." If you must use products bearing the label "warning-flammable," work only in a well-ventilated place that is far removed from an open flame, an operating electric heater or other source of ignition.

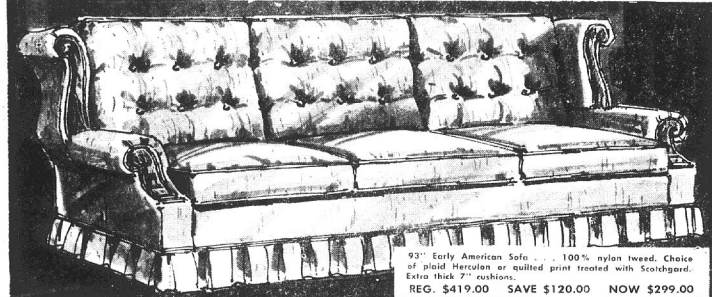

Unless you are using water-based paints, observe the "No Smoking" rule.

Store all potentially dangerous products in tightly capped metal cans—never glass jars—and keep them in a cool place. Finally, says the NFPA, be careful of the paint you use. Promptly outside the house, or if you must temporarily store the rags, keep them in a tightly covered metal can.

May Canal Freight Sets All-Time Record

Freight tonnage shipped through the Chain of Rocks Locks and Canal during May set a new record of 5,400,775 tons, surpassing the previous record of 5,373,775 tons set in October 1970, according to a report issued this week by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

The all-time record was set as tonnage continued to increase through the locks for the fifth consecutive month. Shipments in April totaled 4,905,244 tons. The May figure is more than May 1971 in which shipments totaling 4,702,823 tons were reported.

The May shipments brought total tonnage for the year to 21,196,775 tons, topping the 17,735,283 tons in the same period of 1971, the 18,766,949 tons in the first five months of 1970, and the 15,921,088 tons in the same period of 1969.

Total shipments for the period in previous years were: 1968—16,997,625 tons; 1967—16, 164,441 tons; and 1966—15,152,940 tons; and 1965—12,452,892 tons. The May figure included 5,428,775 tons of commercial shipments and 2,000 tons of government equipment and supplies.

Total Vessels
A total of 6,812 ships passed through the locks in May, more than the 6,388 ships in the record month of October 1970, the 6,067 ships in April 1972 and the 5,969 ships in May 1971.

The numbers of all types of vessels, except U. S. contractor boats, patrol boats and private passenger boats, increased in May over April. Contractor boats dipped from 38 to five and patrol boats declined from 17 to 16 in the period. The number of passenger boats remained at four each month.

Increases included: tow boats, increasing from 881 to 1,158; barges, up from 4,467 to 5,444; private recreation boats, from 50 to 167; government tow boats, from five to 10; government barges, from four to nine; and government construction boats, from one to two. Lockages increased from 969 in April to 1,056 in May. Last month's lockages were slightly below the 1,084 in October 1970 and the 1,080 in May 1971. Lockages for the first five months of the year, 4,619, far surpass the 2,578 lockages in the same period of last year.

Commercial Tonnage
Total commercial tonnage moving upriver in May was 2,651,065 tons and 2,777,690 tons moved downriver.

Freight shipments included: petroleum products, 552,200 tons upriver, 285,900 tons downriver; grain, 25,300 up, 2,183,850 down; cement, sand and gravel, 19,500 up, 66,400 down; sulphur, 4,700 up, zero down; miscellaneous commodities, 555,522 up, 90,500 down; iron and steel products, 31,250 up, 92,840 down; and chemicals, 445,063 up, 73,800 down.

Boker said salary increases included in the new contracts range from 4% to 5% over last year's salary levels.

Alderman Frank Greenwald, a member of the Board of Local Improvements which is handling the program for construction of a downtown mall, said the board still is waiting for legal opinions from Charles & Trauernicht, St. Louis bonding authorities, before it can proceed further.

Alderman R. E. Robertson, chairman of the Pollution Plant Committee, reported that Charles & Trauernicht also has asked for more time to prepare opinions on a city bond issue which will be needed to finance construction of the secondary sewage treatment plant.

Robertson had reported earlier that bond opinions were anticipated last week and possibly would be ready for council action in Monday night's meeting. He said that it now appears several more weeks may be needed to complete ordinances authorizing a bond issue.

'Cabaret' at Park Rink Saturday Night

The The Masquers' final performance of "Cabaret" will be presented for area theatre-goers at 8:35 p.m. Saturday at the Wilson Park rink pavilion. Tickets are available in advance from cast members, or at the box office immediately before the show.

"Cabaret," a current hit movie starring Liza Minnelli, is set in Berlin in the early 1930s. Most of the action takes place in the Kit Kat Club, a night club where patrons are invited to forget the troubles of pre-war Germany and enjoy the "Cabaret."

The Masquers' production opens with the Emcee (Al Wiltz) in the night club singing "Welcome."

Members of the cabaret include Wiltz' wife, Nancy, portraying the carefree Sally Bowles and the Kit Kat Club girls — Susan Brockus Riddle and Lynn Harsh, both of Granite City, and Betty and Kathy Darrt of Belleville.

Mrs. Riddle has appeared in several Masquer plays, including "The Boyfriend," "The Crucible," "Death of a Salesman" and the lead role in "Rumpelstiltskin."

A theatre major, Mrs. Riddle also was cast in the East Bank Players' production "The Fantasticks" and in "Sweet Charity" at SIU. She will appear with the SIU-SW Repertory Company this summer and is slated to direct "Cinderella" for the Masquers next season.

Mrs. Harsh has been seen in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "The Boyfriend," "Carnival" and "Brigadoon." She was a contestant in the 1969 Miss Granite City Pageant and was involved in theatre work during high school.

She is married to Jim Harsh, an instructor at Grigsby Junior High School. They are the parents of two children, David, 2 years and Jamie, 1. Mrs. Harsh is planning to continue her education at SIU-SW as a dance major.

Mrs. Betty Darrt has choreographed "Mame" and "The Boyfriend" for the Masquers and has appeared as one of the quartet in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Her daughter, Kathy Darrt, a student at SIU-SW majoring in education, will be seen this season with the SIU-SW Repertory Company in "Celebration" and "The Boyfriend."

Other Granite Cityans appearing in "Cabaret" are Debra Blair, Donna Gail and Dan Baug. The production is under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Scroggins, with choreography by Mrs. Margie Pennell, both of Granite City.

'CABARET' ENTERTAINERS surround the Emcee (Al Wiltz) in a number featuring the Kit Kat Girls — Susan Brockus Riddle (left foreground) and Lynn Harsh (right), both of Granite City, and Betty (top left) and Kathy Darrt of Belleville. Masquers, Inc. will present its season finale "Cabaret" at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at Wilson Park rink pavilion.

More than 75 people donated materials and volunteered their labor in the construction.

Mother-Infant Swim Class at Park Pool

Infants from 4 months old to youngsters of 7 years will have an opportunity to learn to swim in a new "Mother-Infant" swim program at Wilson Park pool.

The series of classes will start Monday, June 26 and continue with daily sessions from 11:30 a.m. to noon through July 7.

The youthful participants must be residents of the Granite City Park District and accompanied to class by their mothers or a guardian, 16 years or older.

Classes will be conducted with the mother or guardian in the water with the child, Miss Joyce Huelskamp, Red Cross safety instructor, reported.

Key to success of an early-age swim program is that the child is actually taught by his mother under the supervision of a qualified instructor. Miss Huelskamp pointed out. Purpose of the class is to acquaint young children with and help them to be more comfortable in the water, she said.

With the assistance of the mothers, the youngsters will practice basic skills considered vital in good swimming—learning to submerge, floating, breathing control and the human stroke (dog paddle), the program director advised.

No fee will be charged those attending the class, but each child and guardian must purchase the $1 park district insurance, Miss Huelskamp explained.

Additional information on the new program may be obtained by calling Wilson Park Pool, 876-7466. Adults may register for the class in person at the pool office.

MR. AND MRS. VIRGIL KAMBARIAN JR., who exchanged wedding vows at the First United Presbyterian Church. The bride is the former Miss Wendy Decatur, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Decatur, 3229 Colgate Place.

Wendy Decatur Becomes Mrs. Virgil Kambarian

Urns holding arrangements of fresh summer flowers adorned the altar and pink candles in aisle candelabra, with pink satin bows on the pews, provided the setting June 17 at the First United Presbyterian Church for the wedding of Miss Wendy Decatur and Virgil Kambarian Jr.

The Rev. David Maxton officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring ceremony. Miss Decatur is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Decatur, 3229 Colgate Place. The groom is a son of Mrs. Ann Meszaros, 2639 East 24th St., and Virgil Kambarian Sr., 2119 Grand Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Decatur chose a gown of ivory satineau with a self fabric ruffle at the neckline and around the cuff of the sleeves. Hand crocheted lace, inserted with pink satin ribbon, accented the bodice and edged the cathedral train. She carried a cascade of pink roses, asters, statice and baby breath.

Miss Jan Taylor, maid of honor, and Mrs. Chris Clouser, Miss Jill Taylor and Mrs. Parris Rich, bridesmaids, wore identical gowns in plum color. Their floor length dresses, made along Empire lines, were trimmed with ruffles at the low neckline, sleeve cuff and bordering the hem of the full skirts. They carried pink candles encircled with garlands of asters, pink roses, purple statice and baby breath.

Mary and Melissa Pennell, the flower girls, were gowned in pink flocked voile frocks. The bridesmaids wore full length, fashioned in similar style to the maids' dresses. They held nosegays of pink roses, asters, purple statice and baby breath. Jamie Cormier served as ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Al Bishop. Groomsmen included Robert Meszaros, brother of the groom, James Holland and William Decatur, a brother of the bride. Seating the guests were Edward and Arthur Asadorian, cousins of the groom.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception at Holy Trinity Hall in Madison, following the church service. They departed for a wedding trip to Lake Geneva, Wis., and upon their return will reside in the Pontoon Beach area.

Mrs. Decatur, the bride's mother, wore a mauve floor length gown with matching accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a white lace dress, complemented with violet accessories.

The bride graduated from Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, where she received a B.A. in English and was a member of the English Club and Sigma Tau Delta English honorary sorority.

Mr. Kambarian received his B.S. Degree in Education, History at Eastern Illinois University and is teaching at Co-ledge Junior High School.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Warren E. Decatur, Mrs. Rose Morgan and Mrs. Frances Duncin, all of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Edwards and son of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. William Stenus and daughters, Linda, Diane, Mariel, and Inga Stenus of Williamsby, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grimm, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. R. W. Grimm, Berwyn, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Roby and daughter, Diane, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Witz, all of Decatur.

Legion Post 799 Auxiliary Elects

Mrs. Maggie Cannon was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Henry Mitchell Post 799, at a meeting at the Post Home, 1043 Douglas St., Venice. She will succeed Mrs. Amanda Loeman in office, following the installation in August.

Other officers named to serve in 1972-73 are: Mrs. Lulu Belle Williams, first vice-president; Mildred B. Warren, second vice-president; Mrs. Pansy Campbell, secretary; Mrs. Gertrude E. Young, treasurer; Mrs. Teresa Franklin, historian; Mrs. Mary Cross, chaplain; Mrs. Lubirda Paynes, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Barbara Madison and Mrs. Helen R. King, color bearers.

Special appointments made within the auxiliary unit will be filled by Mrs. Louise Emerson, Junior Auxiliary adviser; Mrs. Coleman, membership chairman; and Mrs. Edna Terrell, Gold Star chairman.

Members authorized donations to aid the Watts and Jackson families, whose homes were destroyed by fire, and discussed plans for the August installation party.

It was reported that Mesdames Coleman, Cannon and Madison attended the 5th Division area convention held at Venice-Madison Post 307.

Winners included Mrs. Parente, Mrs. Cell Kennedy and Mrs. Sadie Jones. Others participating were Mesdames Myrtle Brun, Brenda Moehle, Myrtle Ryan, Margaret Richardson and Marie Perry.

Mrs. Moehle will entertain the group July 3 at her home, 2100 Lull Ave.

Melton-Bailey Nuptials At Gospel Assembly

Gospel Assembly Church was the scene of the June 17 wedding of Miss Rebecca Kay Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Bailey, 2327 Madison Ave., and John A. Melton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melton, 1536 W. Highview Drive, Arnold, Mo.

The Rev. Arthur Ming of St. Louis performed the 2 o'clock ceremony before an altar adorned with arrangements of daisies, gladioli, ferns and baby breath.

Charles Gray, organist, accompanied the soloist, David Moore, who sang The Lord's Prayer and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown fashioned of gardenia white silk organza over tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and puff sleeves and the long skirt was slightly flared. Embroidered daisies were applied on the sleeves, scattered over the skirt and repeated on the detachable court train.

A band of daisies, embellished with seed pearls and silver beads, secured a silk and lace bordered fingertip veil.

Miss Lynette Bailey, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Cecil McBride, the groom's sister, served as bridesmaid.

They appeared in nylon and cotton floral gowns in predominantly pink, yellow and green shades. Styled with a country girl look their dresses featured fitted bodices, scoop necklines edged with a tiny ruffle, puffed sleeves and wide sashes at the natural waistline.

Each attendant wore a large picture hat with yellow ribbon streamers and carried a white basket filled with daisies and baby breath.

Robert Melton and Dr. Frank Melton, both brothers of the groom, served as best man and groomsmen. Basil and Jack Nichols were the ushers.

A buffet luncheon was served to 200 guests, in the church dining room following the ceremony. After a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple will reside in south St. Louis County.

An employee of the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis, the former Miss Bailey was graduated in 1970 from Granite City High School. Mr. Melton was graduated from Fox High School in Arnold and also is employed in St. Louis.

Mrs. Melton, mother of the groom, was attired in an aqua knit sheath frock, complemented with white accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

The groom's parents were hosts at the rehearsal dinner in the church dining room.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilimzig Jr., 2010 Pontoon Road.

Wayne Fisher presided at the organ, furnishing a program of wedding selections.

Large altar bouquets of white gladioli and yellow majestic daisies with greenery and lighted tapers in branched candelabra provided the setting for the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Wendell Garrison, pastor of Suburban Baptist Church, officiated.

The former Miss Yaeger was escorted by her father through an archway of white and yellow daisies. The bower was decorated in keeping with the yellow and white nosegays, fixed to the family news.

She chose a full length, total look gown of white dacron polyester and Schiffler daisy embroidery. The embroidered Empire bodice was accented with white satin ribbon and featured a rolled collar and short puff sleeves. Rows of satin ribbon enhanced the soft flowing skirt.

A chapel cap headpiece secured a long mantilla veil, edged in delicate daisy lace to match the gown, and she carried a white wicker basket of white daisies and roses.

Miss Gail Yaeger, maid of honor and a sister of the bride, selected a gown of lemon yellow dacron polyester organza. Designed with a daisy Schiffler embroidered bodice, the dress was fashioned with short puffed sleeves and an A-line skirt.

Mrs. James Allen of Charleston, Ill., the former Nancy Neupert of Granite City, and Miss Vicki Yetter, bridesmaids, were attired in gowns matching the honor attendant. All wore headpieces of yellow satin bows and streamers and carried white wicker baskets of yellow daisies and baby breath.

Candlelighters, Lisa Branca, a niece of the groom and Isabel Lichtenberg of Phoenix, Ariz., the bride's cousin, wore similarly styled frocks in yellow organza.

Serving as best man was Larry Rapp of Hazelwood, Mo. The groomsmen were Charles Fritzell and Private First Class Michael Yaeger, a brother of the bride. Seating the guests were Russell Gersch, Robert Doroghazi and Mike Teller.

Mrs. Yaeger chose for her daughter's wedding, a pastel pink silk dress, formal length, featuring a round neckline, a high rise waist and long sleeves. She wore a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother wore a long aqua gown of maracane fabric created in an Empire design with a flowing skirt. Accessories were in silver and she carried a pink cymbidium orchid corsage.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON W. WILL S. formerly of Granite City, who were married June 3 at Trinity United Methodist Church. They are residing in Mobile, Ala., where the bridegroom is stationed in the U.S. Coast Guard. The bride is the former Deborah Susan Pittenger.

Trip Here From Wales Re-Unites Cousins

Joseph H. Rees of Port Talbot, South Wales, Great Britain, has been the guest of his cousin, Mrs. May Wetzel, 3112 Wayne Ave. The cousins, both 74 years old, had not seen each other for 69 years.

Their last meeting took place in 1903 when Mrs. Wetzel's mother, accompanied by four children including Mrs. Wetzel, made a journey to Wales from Elwood, Ill. The visitor left today for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he will spend some time with other relatives prior to departing for Wales. It is his first trip to the United States.

During his three weeks vacation here, Mr. Rees also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wellington, 2807 Madison Ave., a brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Wetzel.

An accomplished musician, Mr. Rees recently completed 50 years as organist with the Welsh Singing Organization. He also is organist at the church he attends in Port Talbot and with the Masonic Lodge in his home community.

One of the highlights of his stay was a trip to the "Grand Old Opry" in Nashville, Tenn., an excursion he asked his hostess to arrange. Mr. Rees and Mrs. Wetzel were accompanied to Nashville by Mrs. Dorothy King of Granite City.

In Tennessee, they were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melson. The latter is a granddaughter of Mrs. Wetzel. They also traveled to Atlanta, Ga., and visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doerner and daughter, formerly of Granite City.

The local family also arranged with the Rev. David Maxton, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, for Mr. Rees to use the church organ and play a recital of favorite numbers for his relatives and their friends.

MRS. FRANCES SKUBISH HOSTESS TO KARDETTES

Mrs. Frances Skubish entertained the Karettes Club in her home, 3423 Lydia Lane, Monday evening. Games were played with prizes awarded to Mesdames Beverly Steff, Wenona Kibort, Josephine Oresovich and Diana Loucks.

Others taking part in the evening's activities were Mesdames Emma Julek, Barbara Nemeth and guests, Mrs. Helen Todoroff and Loretta Oresovich. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The July meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Betty Papp.

CHARLES HAUGS NAME SON RYAN CHARLES

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Haug Jr., of Griffith, Ind., are announcing the arrival of their first child, a son, born June 9 at a Hammond, Ind. hospital. They have chosen the name Ryan Charles for the infant who weighed eight pounds, 13 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Virsion of Covina, Calif., and Mrs. Charles Haug Sr., 2415 Logan Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Haug Jr. are former Granite City residents.

Charles McCann, on Father's Day and marked the 82nd birthday of her mother, Mrs. Mayne McCann.

FIVE GENERATIONS of the Lignoul family who attended a gathering here during the weekend. Seated, left to right, are Gus Lignoul Jr., father of 4-week-old Chad Michael Lignoul, held by his great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lignoul, and Mrs. Lilly Gray, 91, of St. Louis, the infant's great-great-grandmother. In background is Gus Lignoul Sr., grandfather of the infant. The Lignouls reside in Granite City.

MISS THERESA MAYZER, 307 Madison Ave., Madison, whose engagement to Robert R. Hanneman of Tooele, Utah, is being announced. Their wedding will take place July 1 at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Miss Mayzer to Marry in July

Miss Theresa (Terry) Mayzer, 307 Madison Ave., Madison, will become the bride of Robert R. Hanneman of Tooele, Utah, July 1 at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mayzer. She retired from the Granite City Army Installation after 27 years of service. While at the local military base, Miss Mayzer worked in varied capacities, including mail and file supervisor, stock and supply clerk, librarian and IBM operator.

Mr. Hanneman received his education in Lincoln, Neb., and attended the University of Nebraska. He presently is employed at the Army Depot in Tooele as an engineer and automotive equipment inspector.

The prospective groom, a member of the Loyal Order of Moose, Chapter 272 of Granite City, also is an active member of the Moose and Elks organizations in Tooele.

Past Chiefs Meet At Conary Home

Mrs. Nettie Conary was hostess Monday to the Past Chief's Club of Cascade Temple 216, Pythian Sisters, at her home. A luncheon was served during the noon hour.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer and a short business session was led by Mrs. Lillian Chepey, president. Others present were Mesdames Nell Hutchinson, Ella McKittick, Olivia Layman, Fern Eggle, Linda Schlingman of Collinsville and Mrs. Martha Montague of Troy. Games were played and prizes were awarded.

Plans were made for a picnic in July at the home of Mrs. Hutchinson on Lake Drive. Formal meetings will resume in September at the home of Mrs. Eggle.

WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Mildred Beede, 30, of 907 Madison Ave., Madison, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:50 a.m. Tuesday with injuries sustained in an auto accident at Route 203 and Bend Road. She had lacerations to the chin and lower lip, and x-rays were taken of the skull, face, spine and chest.

Creative Drama Class Is Success

Mrs. Mary Schmidt, a former professional dancer with the Royal Ballet Company in London, England, who also is a writer and director of children's dance and drama programs, conducted a 12-week pilot course in Creative Dramatics at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

The guest instructor has lectured at Cornell University and given private and group drama and dance lessons to all ages at Principia College, where her husband is a professor of art. Participation and enthusiasm displayed by children enrolled in the initial course has prompted Mrs. Schmidt to plan a second series of classes beginning in September, it was learned. Instruction again will be given at the Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos avenues.

Risto Evangeloff was honored at a dinner this week given by his sister, Mrs. Victoria Okstoft, her son, James Kostoff Jr., and the honored guest's father, John Evangeloff. The party was held at the Evangeloff home, 1223 Iowa St., Madison.

Weapon Control Touchy Subject But Senator Stevenson Cites Gun-Related Fear, Violence

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, quite ready to register the .22's and the shotgun he uses on his Galena farm, knows that gun control—when linked with other issues—is explosive enough to blow a senator right out of his seat.

The Illinois Democrat was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1970, the election year that saw Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, defeated after a campaign in which his support for stronger gun laws played a big part.

Despite the opposition of state gun clubs, the Maryland legislature this year passed a fire-arms control law (which ironically failed to protect Gov. George Wallace, a gun curb foe who was the target of a would-be assassin this spring at Laurel, Md.).

When Stevenson was in the Illinois House of Representatives in 1965, he introduced a gun control bill. It set off "an avalanche of mail" with 5,000 letters denouncing him and his work. He recalls only one letter supporting him—

"from a friend who felt sorry for me."

Whether Illinois gun buffs ever imperil Stevenson's Senate seat, as Marylanders apparently did for Tydings, many remain an academic question. But the Illinoisian is not going to shrug it off. He proposes to "stand by my guns."

"It's time we stood up to the gun lobby—and acted to take the fear, the violence and the bloodshed out of America," Stevenson told a Chicago television audience in the wake of the Wallace shooting.

Since he introduced his bill to license and register handguns—not to confiscate them, he emphasizes—Stevenson's mail has been running two-to-one against the proposal. The opposition seems inspired by a group using an Olney post office box and calling itself "citizens fighting gun confiscation."

The only anti-gun control mail reaching the office of Sen. Charles H. Percy in any volume "is coming out of Effingham County," an aide says. This, too, appears to be an organized campaign. Such mail is not heavy yet but is likely to increase when the issue becomes more active on Capitol Hill.

A Stevenson assistant says he is undaunted. "The senator is going ahead with his gun control bill even if his office is inundated with mail."

The National Rifle Association of America, which publishes The American Rifleman, often is cited as a powerful gun lobby in Washington. It is not listed as a lobbyist, but its executive vice-president is registered individually. NRA has 43,231 members in Illinois, comparable to the totals in Michigan and Ohio; New York has the highest membership—more than 84,000.

Did the NRA help defeat Tydings and would it single out Stevenson for similar attention because of his views on gun legislation? "We don't engage in a campaign to smear a guy or defeat anyone," an NRA spokesman replies.

"We will, if a particular senator or congressman introduces a bill or makes a strong statement on gun control, report it in The American Rifleman," (Stevenson's staff says that "within 48 hours" after he details a proposed gun bill last Oct. 18 before the Chicago Crime Commission, the Rifleman called to request his picture.)

The junior senator from Illinois does not quarrel with guns in responsible hands for legitimate uses, which is basically the NRA position, and he owns three—a .22-caliber target rifle, a shotgun for game birds and a .22 pistol for rattlesnakes when he's riding on his farm.

But he remains at odds with those who favor the status quo, in which there are few restrictions regarding gun ownership. And he indicates a willingness to see it through to a showdown, regardless of the considerable firepower of the issue.

'Too Many People' Heads List of Ten Most Serious Environmental Issues Facing World

The 10 most serious environmental problems facing the world today have been named by 18 internationally-known ecologists from throughout the world. The list was compiled for use during the National Wildlife Federation international symposium, "Uniting Nations for Biosurvival," held in Stockholm, Sweden, this month.

The ecologists, representing 16 different countries, were part of the program for the NWF symposium for public citizens—held in conjunction with the U. N. Conference on the Human Environment. Subjects discussed ranged from marine mammals to pollution around the globe.

"The problems cited make up the most definitive list of world resource problems ever compiled," Federation Executive Vice-President Thomas L. Kimball reported. The 10 major world problems named follow:

1. Too many people, potentially creating demands on all natural resources.
 2. Pollution of waters of the world with far-reaching effects on human health, marine and freshwater fisheries, economic and esthetic values.
 3. Pollution of the air, with resultant diseases and maladies for man and for animals; plus pollution of the atmosphere in the form of damaging noise levels.
 4. Absence of really significant, long-lasting research in food production to feed the hungry peoples of the world.
 5. Lack of workable programs to preserve and protect endangered wildlife species of the world.
 6. Inability to limit indiscriminate use of persistent toxic substances affecting vast sources and peoples in all climates, in all parts of the world.
 7. Inability to recycle valuable raw materials effectively—materials which will be forever lost to the world's future people.
 8. Failure to research and plan for alternative sources of energy to improve living conditions for the world's people.
 9. Inability to invest public and private monies that are available to improve the general environment, both physically and esthetically.
 10. And inability of nations and their political subdivisions to develop workable systems of control and cooperation in ecological matters; also, difficulty of establishing effective ecological programs.
- Although many of the solutions appear to be elusive, it may be well to keep in mind that identification and definition of a problem is a considerable step toward remedying it.
- This fact, together with advancing technology, adds some measure of hope to the outlook of serious concern discussed in Sweden.

along with others will be surprised at the large turnout in the fall—as they were by the large turnout for McGovern delegates in the primaries—by both sides of the voters.

In the actual election, I believe there is a bit more freedom and voters will express it. Finally, I would like to thank the Press-Record for again publishing the extended registration dates, including June 24 and 26 and July 1, and attempting to wake up some of our more apathetic citizens.

IRS DIRECTOR RETIRING

To the Editor:

I am retiring from the Internal Revenue Service, effective June 30, 1972, after almost 14 years in the Springfield District and 20 years in the Service as a whole.

My association with you has been most pleasant and cooperative. I particularly appreciate the good response and the effort you have shown to help taxpayers.

This has been most helpful not only to the government but to the public as well. On behalf of the Internal Revenue Service, let me extend my thanks and appreciation for the support you have given so well.

ATTENTIVE UMPIRES

To the Editor:

I have dedicated my ball games at Wilson Park, at least three games weekly. I have in the past taken exception to the way the umpires at the park activities have been handled.

I would like now to commend the umpires in the games on your local baseball team. June 5 and Diamond 2 at 6 p.m. June

Parallels Between French Revolution, Modern Era

GUILLOTINE IN THE WINGS: By Alex Karmel; McGraw-Hill, 227 pages; $6.95.

Reviewed by ROBERT BETTS
Copley News Service

Americans had their Revolution first—so what more can they learn from the French one that followed it a few years later?

Plenty, according to Alex Karmel.

"The answer, in short," he says, "is that the French revolution is the source of the modern revolutionary tradition and, therefore, paradoxically, the only revolution of modern times that was NOT influenced by the tradition it engendered."

So here he is, with a book that threatens to steal the thunder from all those bright, biennial studies of the events of 1776 that currently are rolling off the presses.

He compares the situation in the 13 original Colonies were a remote, underpopulated outpost of the European world, "which was why George III and his ill-advised ministers thought they could impose their will on the American Colonists by fiat."

France, at that time, was "la grande nation"—rich (even if its government was in the verge of bankruptcy), commercial and industrial giant, culturally dominating Europe (with the exception of England), and, above all, powerful.

"At the end of the 18th Century," Karmel writes, "the only nation where a revolution could change the history of the human race was France—and the revolution that occurred there did change the history of the human race."

He adds that "the only nation in the world that was in the last third of the 20th Century is the United States."

Thus, he justifies the subtitle of his book: "A New Look at the French Revolution and Its Relevance to America Today."

He further explains, "The French revolution, like our own, like the one that may be in progress in this country, was also a grassroots movement."

"It was neither molded nor limited by any theory of history or revolution. It was a series of improvised responses to a national and social crisis."

"This is enough of an analogy to lead us to suggest that there are some aspects of these often-studied events almost two centuries ago that will shed some new light on our present situation."

At least it should shed some new light for those American radicals today who have tried to justify their actions as being in the tradition of the American Revolution of 1776.

8 for an outstanding job. The score of the Diamond 2 game was 7-0 and the score of the Diamond 1 game was 12-3.

What was so amazing about the games was the fact that the umpires called plays the same way as if the game was tied up. They kept their eyes on the action on the diamonds and I don't believe they were aware of an audience at all which cheered.

As in any other profession, you have dedicated people. The umpires of these two games were certainly dedicated and are to be commended. I surely appreciate the services of the park district when they are discharged by these dedicated people.

State Status-- Staff of 160 on Safety, Health

(Springfield Highlights)

Senate Bills 1598 to 1602, which enable the state administration of the federal health and safety act (OSHA), passed the Illinois Senate and went to the House for probably routine final passage.

The bills will enable the state agencies to obtain some federal funds to implement administration and employ a staff of 160, including inspectors and others.

There is no provision for an advisory inspection without financial penalties.

Only those injuries and illnesses resulting in the loss of more than one scheduled work day—or resulting in the inability of the employee to perform all of his regular job duties—are to be reported to the Illinois Industrial Commission.

There will be no protection of an employer's trade secrets, and preservation of the sole remedy concept of workmen's compensation act.

All fines against employers will be paid into the state general revenue fund. Employers will follow the federal law wording regarding the informing of employees by employers of potentially hazardous job conditions.

Effective date is to be July 1. This will not bring Illinois into complete conformity with the U. S. standards, but it will allow the state to obtain more federal funds to carry on further activities in the safety and health fields.

Senate Bills 1244-1251, creating a 4% state tax and authorizing an additional 1% municipal or county tax on the privilege of using rented or leased tangible personal property, had been sitting quietly on the House calendar since last fall.

They failed at passage. Last week they were ordered back to the House Revenue Committee and set for hearing immediately. Amendments will be offered.

The measures shift the tax burden from equipment lessors to users, increasing costs by changing collection base from the original cost of equipment to gross rental receipts.

SB 1247, implementing the individual's constitutional right to a healthful environment, was advanced to final passage stage in the House.

H. B. 4128, creating the litter control act, was amended in the Senate to remove littering as a moving violation and passed. It now goes to the House for concurrence with the Senate amendment.

H. B. 2335, creating the Industrial Pollution Control Financing Authority, which would issue revenue bonds for facilities, was passed and sent to the House for concurrence with Senate amendment. A portion of the funding was earmarked for small business.

500 Students Qualify for Presidential Fitness Awards

More than 500 students from the Granite City school district will receive the Presidential Youth Fitness Citation awarded by President Nixon based on records made in the annual youth fitness testing program conducted by physical education teachers this spring.

All boys and girls in grade five and six in all elementary schools, all girls in grades seven through nine in the four junior high schools and girls in track and field classes at the senior high school were given the opportunity to qualify for their award.

To qualify for the Presidential Citation students must score in the 85 percentile or better in each of seven test items and have the endorsement of both their physical education teacher and the building principal that they are good citizens.

Over 50,000 Drivers Fail

Last year alone, over 50,000 Illinois licensed drivers failed the state written examination. This year the number of drivers that will fail could jump to a hundred thousand or more. Experts say — "One reason is, that rules and regulations change, and even some good safe drivers just don't keep up with the new laws." If your license expires this year, you may be among the hundreds of thousands that will be re-examined in 1972. So if you're nervous about taking the state written exam, here's good news. You can now purchase your own "self-scoring" test papers, complete with questions, answers and road signs you should know for that important examination. This method has helped thousands pass the state exam. Introductory price just $6 plus 75 cents handling. (Check or money order only.) Mail to AA-AA School of Safe Driving, 6304 N. Engineering Programs To Be Coordinated Areas of cooperation between engineering programs at the local and Carbondale campuses of Southern Illinois University have been outlined to the SIU Board of Trustees.

Discussion between the two campuses is part of an agreement announced in February by the SIU trustees and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The February agreement allowed the engineering program to continue here after the Board of Higher Education had voted in January to eliminate the SIU-SW engineering students on the need for continuation of the program preceded the February compromise.

The SIU trustees today approved a review of the existing program at SIU-SW presented by Laurence McNaney dean of the SIU-SW Science and Technology Division, and forwarded the review to the Board of Higher Education.

McNaney presented an analysis of courses offered at SIU-SW that would satisfy Carbondale course requirements. He said, however, that differences between the two programs will cause problems.

The existing undergraduate engineering program at SIU-SW offers three options: Electronic Engineering, urban and environmental engineering and engineering science. McNaney said one of the obstacles to cooperation with Carbondale is the different set of options offered at Carbondale. A second obstacle is the evolution of similar courses on both campuses with different numbers of credit hours, making an exact match difficult he said.

Another proposed area of cooperation is on the master's degree level McNaney said.

"There's a real need for graduate education for engineers employed in the Metro-East area," he said. "At present this need can be satisfied only by offerings at universities in St. Louis since the local campus has no graduate engineering program."

Several industries have made unsolicited requests to SIU-SW for graduate programs in engineering for their employees McNaney said. A program is operating at the Monsanto plant in Sauget under the supervision of the School of Technology at Carbondale using faculty from SIU-C and SIU-SW.

"The experience of the Sauget experiment indicates better results would be obtained by using SIU-SW itself as the location of the program some local faculty for courses they're qualified to teach and Carbondale faculty to teach other courses," McNaney said.

"Execution of such a program would be an example of resource utilization in meeting regional needs."

SIU-SW is the only university in Illinois Metro-East with an engineering program. The others in the state are at SIU-C and at the Chicago and Urbana campuses of the University of Illinois.

Ambassador Defends Taiwan's Chinese Policies

"We do not have a perfect case of democracy at work in Taiwan, but there are degrees of democracy, and I would like to see any particular country pointed out as a perfect case of democracy," said the Ambassador of Taiwan to the U. S., James C. H. Shen.

Ambassador Shen was questioned by members of the press on the campus of Southern Illinois University - Southwestern where he was the guest of the Asian Studies Program.

Ambassador Shen defended what he called the "political participation" which exists under the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek. "We know we have shortcomings, we know we have imperfections," he said, "but in an open society like the one we have on Taiwan, things can be changed."

"On Taiwan," the Ambassador said, "the people remain masters of their own destiny." This he said was in "total contrast" to the political situation on the mainland where, he said, such freedom did not exist.

Those Taiwanese in this country who criticize the government of Chiang, he said, "may have an exaggerated apprehension" about political affairs at home. "Any unbiased, fair-minded visitor to my country will find that it's a free society. The only thing we are not permitted to do on Taiwan is to advocate that the government be overthrown by violence," the Ambassador said.

Maurice Dailey Installed In Eagle Scout Ranks

Explorer Post 69, sponsored by Miles Laboratories, has installed their first Eagle Scout at a special ceremony following a family pot luck supper attended by members and their guests at the Weisman Room of St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Maurice Dailey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dailey Sr., 640 Oaklawn Drive, was invested with the rank of Eagle Scout. The Eagle Oath was administered and the badge presentation made, by Rollin Henn, past president of the Cahokia Mound Council, assisted by Ted Schrum and Dr. Sid Maer of the council. Young Dailey is the first explorer representative to serve on the council board.

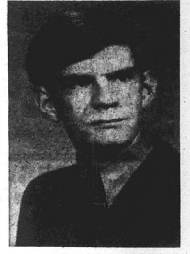

Maury Dailey, post president, was in charge of the recognition dinner, where he presented several awards in the name of the post. First was a thanks plaque for Miles Lab in honor of their long interest in scouting, and to Robert Conches of Miles Labs. The awards were accepted by Mrs. Conches in the absence of her husband. Sister Mary Thomas accepted a thanks plaque for St. Elizabeth in recognition of its interim backing of the post. Dr. Barry Murphy, formerly of Miles Laboratories, was honored as post advisor. Also honored was Explorer Phil Flanagan post vice-president, for his outstanding service to the post.

In charge of the dinner arrangements was Mary Jo Conchaux, assisted by the distaff members of the coed post, whose specialty is careers in science.

Following the supper and Eagle ceremony, the post conducted a tour of their lab quarters in the old section of the hospital. There were displays of several current science projects being conducted by post members and a demonstration of blood typing by Explorers Glen Hallacre and Deana Oram.

After the ceremony and program, Mr. and Mrs. Dailey entertained the post membership with a social evening at their home.

Post 69 has several projects in progress to raise funds for a projected camping trip in Colorado later this summer. They held a car wash last Saturday and a bake sale is scheduled for the coming weekend, as well as a better-eight-through-good-light project for the sale of light bulbs.

You only pay one premium for title insurance. But it protects your title as long as you, or your heirs, own your property. That's what makes title insurance such a great buy.

Title insurance protects you from all claims against the title, as insured, including those caused by "hidden risks". Like the heir of a former owner that no one knew about. Or the forgery or erroneous earlier deed or document that affects your property. Or the undisclosed divorced wife of a previous owner. This is the kind of protection you simply can't get from abstracts or searches alone.

There's a professional title insurance agent right in your area who can tell you all about this one-cost title protection. Give him a call today.

People Do a Lot of Things To Help Clean up Nation

(Copley News Service)

It is becoming a sort of ad to observe slyly that most people talk a lot about cleaning up the environment but actually do very little if anything about it.

Well, the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, which administers and enforces federal laws aimed at cleaning up the air and water, says this isn't so. A lot of Americans are doing a lot of things, voluntarily, to help tidy up the nation, the agency reports.

It has gathered a variety of examples of volunteer aid to prove the point that most people really want to clean things up. The EPA report will be submitted next month to a United Nations Conference on the Human Environment in Stockholm, Sweden. These are some of the for-instances:

Group of concerned citizens launched a campaign to save San Francisco Bay from further destruction by filling and pollution. Their efforts brought a new state law for the conservation of the bay.

Nearby residents joined historians to oppose an electric power company's plan to run a transmission line near the Civil War battlefield of Antietam in Maryland. The line was routed away from the historic site.

The federal government decided to build a dam in the beautiful Red River Gorge in Kentucky. But a lot of Kentuckians with an eye for beauty decided that was the wrong thing to do. Their opposition forced the government to relocate the dam. So a priceless natural area was preserved.

In Pennsylvania, dust from a nearby steel mill was making life miserable for nearby inhabitants. Local authorities apparently could do nothing about it. So the residents organized and called on the company's top management. The result: the mill installed emission control equipment to provide cleaner air for the community.

The New York State Authority decided to expand Kennedy International Airport by using part of Jamaica Bay. When nature lovers and others discovered the project would have destroyed a bird sanctuary, their protests were so audible the authority changed its plans and saved the sanctuary.

An airline captain, ignoring warnings that he would be fired, refused to jettison fuel from his plane. His action helped bring pressure on airlines to stop dtying up the air with jettisoned fuel.

Add all these up along with countless other such instances, say agency officials, and you have pretty sound proof that a lot of Americans are doing a lot about cleaning up the country.

Old, cast-off tires, it develops, are becoming mighty useful. Not only are they providing hot-burning fuel to produce new tires. Now they're also being dumped into East and Gulf Coast waters as modular dwellings for fish.

Rubber reefs, providing shelter for marine life, are being built at some 80 locations. They will use up 300,000 old tires which otherwise would wind up on unsightly dump heaps. Tire manufacturers believe half a million worn-out tires will be sunk each year to create new reefs.

One of the largest of the public housing booms for marine life is a reef research project at Marco Island, Fla., sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the Deltona Corp., developer of a planned community there.

Thousands of cast-off tires, furnished by Goodyear, are being sunk to form the first of a series of reefs near the island. The tires are compacted and bundled, then weighted with concrete and anchored in the gulf bottom.

They are being sunk 20 feet deep in units of 100, 250, 500 and 1,000 bundles per acre. Other reefs at greater depths will be built later.

The artificial reef, says George P. Spinner, director of Deltona's environmental management, attracts fish and fishermen alike.

"Essentially," he explains, "it starts the food chain almost immediately. It provides shelter for the smaller fish, and for the larger ones it is a home as well as a food source."

Goodyear is building other rubber reefs—sort of undersea housing renewal programs for marine life — at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Galveston, Texas; and Adelaide, Australia. And all the time these projects are disposing of tires that have outlived their highway usefulness and which otherwise might be cluttering up somebody's horizon, says Russell DeYoung, Goodyear board chairman.

Percy Resolution to Urge Protection of Airports

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) was to introduce a resolution in the Senate this week to curtail terrorist attacks at international airports around the world.

"There must never be a repetition of the May 30 slaughter of 27 innocent travelers, 16 of them Americans, at Israel's Lod International Airport," Percy said in remarks prepared for delivery on the Senate floor.

Percy, who hailed U. S. endorsement of a new international convention to combat air piracy, said, "We must also focus on the vulnerability of international airports and related facilities."

Assaults such as the one at Lod have happened before, Percy said, noting that on Nov. 27, 1968, 15 persons were wounded in a grenade attack on the El Al Airlines ticket office in Athens, and one person was slain and 11 others wounded in an incident at Munich's international airport on Feb. 10, 1970.

Israel has been the primary target of recent terrorist attacks, Percy said. But, he cautioned that, "as long as one nation is vulnerable to this banditry, then no nation is safe from it."

International society, Percy added, "simply cannot allow itself to remain defenseless against mindless criminals who try to mask their assaults as 'political acts.'"

Percy said his resolution calls upon the President to negotiate an international agreement that would require participating nations to:

Consider terrorist attacks at international airports as extraditable crimes, and not "political acts" for which asylum could be sought and granted.

Agree to provide for the immediate apprehension and extradition of alleged terrorists to the nation in which the terrorist attack occurred.

Afford certain safeguards to insure that an individual accused of terrorist attacks receives a fair trial.

Percy noted that his resolution covers an area not now covered by the Hague or Montreal Conventions, which focus primarily on the aircraft itself.

His proposal, he explained, would include airports and related areas, such as terminals,

Typical Youth in Trouble Portrayed by Statistics

By Joan Muraro
Copley News Service

Springfield — If there can be a "typical" youngster who gets into serious trouble with the law, in Illinois last year it was likely to be a boy, 15 or 16 years old, living with an unemployed mother without a male parent, supported by ADC or welfare, with an average IQ rating of one to two years. He has also been in trouble before, since the biggest single offense was violation of probation.

The composite picture is derived from two statistical reports just completed by the juvenile division of the department of corrections which show commitments for the periods of Jan. 1 through June 30, and July 1 through Dec. 31, 1971.

The cases are broken down by age, race, sex and area (Cook county or downstate) and show some unexpected facts compared with some popular—but erroneous—fancies.

For instance, far fewer youngsters get involved with authorities when they live with a father and a stepmother, than when they live with mothers and stepfathers. The wicked stepmother who ruins the child's life doesn't seem to be too plentiful in Illinois, where only 32 commitments came from homes where there were a father and stepmother, compared to 150 from homes maintained by a mother and stepfather.

A total of 1,166 wards were involved during the year, 1,044 of them boys and only 122 girls. A total of 352 had been living with their parents, and only a comparative handful, 49 in all, had been living with their fathers alone at the time they were committed.

While 366 of these committed came from homes where ADC or welfare provided the entire family income, only 94 cases came out of homes where ADC was being supplemented by wages being earned by someone in the family.

The second largest group of commitments came from homes where the senior male was employed, followed by 245 home situations in which both parents worked. Despite frequent condemnation of working mothers, only 132 cases came out of homes where only the mother was working.

The statistics also show that the big majority of the youngsters committed to the department of corrections had been born in Illinois and lived here all their lives. Only 11 youngsters—nine boys and two girls, all downstate whites—had lived in the state for six months or less when they tangled with Illinois law.

Overall, the "average" youngster spent slightly over 35 months as a ward of the department.

SIU-SW Menus to Tempt Palates Of Mississippi River Festival Patrons

Visitors to the Mississippi River Festival consumed more than 67,000 cups of soda during the 1971 season and Eleanor Alexander is trying to determine if they will drink even more this summer.

Soda is just one of many food and drink items Mrs. Alexander must be concerned with to satisfy the tastes of concert visitors to the festival site on the campus of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Mrs. Alexander, assistant director of food services, will supervise food preparation and serving at all 30 concerts this summer. Food is available on the festival grounds from two hours before the concert begins through the first intermission. About 30 students from SIU-SW and area high schools cook and sell the food at stations conveniently placed around the festival grounds.

Persons desiring a complete meal can order a box supper of chicken for $1.30, fish for $1.15, shrimp for $1.65, roast beef for $1.60 or rib-eye steak for $1.75. Each box includes cole slaw, french fries, a butterflake roll and honey.

Other Food Items

Other food items include hamburgers, hot dogs, poor boy sandwiches, ham and cheese sandwiches, sliced barbecue beef sandwiches, french fries, popcorn, caramel corn, candy, apples, peanuts, cracker jacks, watermelon, ice cream sundaes, cupcakes and twinkies. Soda and coffee also are sold.

Bill Crabb, food services director, said the menu has changed depending upon the tastes of the visitors.

"We sell tons of popcorn now, but we didn't sell it at all when the festival started," Crabb said. "We ran a buffet previously, but we stopped it because there wasn't much demand. We'll do it again if the demand is there."

Crabb said visitors attending St. Louis Symphony concerts tend to have different eating habits from the average visitor at hard rock concerts.

"On rock nights we sell more hamburgers, hot dogs and cracker jacks," he said. "On symphony nights we sell more box meals and sandwiches."

Preparations Under Way

Crabb said preparations for the season opening July 8 already are under way. Student employees are being hired, food has been ordered and the food preparation building on the festival grounds is being cleaned. Picnic tables also are being placed at the site.

Some things just cannot be foreseen, however, as Crabb and other food services personnel have learned. Last summer, during the record-breaking concert by the rock group the Who, the festival grounds were so crowded that the workers could not get the food through to the serving stations.

Crabb said he is looking forward to another season of serving festival visitors, "rain or shine." He said everyone seems to benefit from the food services operation at the festival.

"Concertgoers have good food available to them, the bulk of our proceeds go back into the Mississippi River Festival, and food services has benefited because of the high school workers we've hired for the summer come to the university and end up working in food services during the academic year," Crabb said.

Wolfsberger Appointed MRF Division Chairman

Donald Wolfsberger, president of the United Food and Packaging Corp., has been named chairman of the special gifts division of the Friends of the Mississippi River Festival, it has been announced by Mrs. Robert H. Orchard, chairman of the Friends organization.

The Friends of the MRF has a goal of $50,000 which, with already announced financial support of the Illinois Arts Council and the Missouri State Council on the Arts, is expected to provide the necessary funds for the operation of the festival.

Mrs. Orchard also announced business and professional men who are heading groups in the special gifts division.

They include Edward L. Eyerlyman of Millisap, Well and Eyerlyman attorneys at law, chairman of the Lawyers Division; Victor J. Jacquemin III, partner of Elmer Fox & Co., and president of the Missouri Association of Accountants, chairman of the accountants division; Dr. John A. Mahoney, D.D.S., chairman of the dentists division; and Wayne Millisap of the Millisap, Well and Eyerlyman law firm, who is corporate chairman.

State Legislators Lag in Self-Help Bills

By BOB ESTILL
Copley News Service

Springfield—Bills for the direct benefit of the Illinois legislators are few and faring poorly at this stage of the legislative session, possibly because the lawmakers must submit themselves to the voters back home Nov. 7.

Conspicuously absent, for example, are any bills to hike lawmakers' salaries beyond the $17,500-a-year rate.

The main "self-help" bills are a measure enabling one-term legislative leaders to cash in on extra pension benefits, and a package of bills for remodeling the State House—the latter preliminary for legislative use.

The pension bill would allow a flash in the pan legislative leader to use his increased pay as a leader as the base for determining his pension.

Currently, a lawmaker has to serve two 2-year terms as a leader to add his leadership bonus (ranging from $3,500 to $6,000 annually) to his $17,500-a-year base for pension purposes.

The lawmakers get a percentage of their salary as a pension, ranging from 12½ to four years to 75% for 20 years.

Sails Through House

It sailed through the House with little floor discussion and only a five minute committee hearing, but it has been held on final reading in the Senate due largely to Sen. Egbert Green, R-Pekin, an opponent of the measure. Green is chairman of the Illinois Pension Laws Commission.

The larger package tied up the Senate. It includes a bill to create a new State House, and a bill to create a new State House.

is nearly $4 million in new appropriations for work on the State House.

The package includes $2.2 million for the third phase of the State House remodeling-rehabilitation program, $500,000 in architects' fees on the project, the $980,000 appropriation for remodeling the House Chambers, and a $200,000 supplemental appropriation for the new cafeteria in the basement of the State House.

Duplicate bills have been introduced in both chambers. The bills introduced in the House are on third reading (passage stage). A bill has to make it through both Houses and be signed by the governor to become law.

Because of the opposition of acting Senate GOP Leader Terrell Clarke, R-Western Springs, and other senators, the package is in for a tough time in the upper chamber.

Youths Charged With Picking Marijuana

Two Granite City youths were arrested by Venice police this week and charged with possession of cannabis (marijuana) after allegedly picking 14 ounces of the weed along the railroad tracks near County Road north of Broadway in Venice.

Gregory T. Argent, 21, of 2903a Marshall Ave., and Richard Stanley Ziegler, 17, of Apartment 4, 3008 E. 23rd St., were named on the charges. Bonds were set at $5,000 each.

Police said a plastic bag containing the marijuana and a long stem of the weed, pulled near the ground, were found near where the youths were arrested.

THEFT CHARGE

Nancy J. Taylor, Urbana, Ill., was arrested and charged with theft during the weekend at the W. T. Grant Store. She allegedly took two bottles of fingernail polish, police said.

LAWRENCE RUEMMLER

Ruemmler Earns Law Degree, to Work at Cairo

Lawrence L. Ruemmler, son of Mrs. Rose G. Ruemmler, 3006 Buxton Ave., and the late Adam L. Ruemmler, has received the juris doctor (J.D.) degree as a member of the June graduating class of the University of Illinois College of Law.

While at the law school, he was a member of the Junior Bar Association and was active in the political campaigns of Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III and gubernatorial candidate Dan Walker.

A graduate of Granite City High School, Ruemmler received his bachelor of arts degree from Southern Illinois University-Southwestern in June 1965, with a major in public administration.

He then served with U. S. Army Intelligence, first receiving intensive training in Chinese Mandarin at Washington, D. C., and later completing a tour of duty with the 325th Military Intelligence Group in Vietnam as a counter-intelligence agent.

Before entering law school, Ruemmler was employed in the Work Incentive Program of the Illinois State Employment Service as an employer relations representative.

He worked as a law clerk last summer for the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law in Cairo. He has accepted a position with a successor organization, the Land of Lincoln Legal Services Foundation at Cairo beginning in September.

The legal aid organization serves the three Southern Illinois counties of Alexander, Pulaski and Union.

investigative Commission probes of add-ons to contracts for earlier phases of the State House project and a charge that the project architect admitted six years ago paying a "kickback" on another project.

The acting Republican Senate leader wants to find out before any new money is approved why earlier appropriations were exceeded and who was responsible.

Last year, the Legislature appropriated $375,000 for the basement cafeteria. Contracts totaling more than $400,000 have been awarded so far on the project. The Secretary of State's office now is asking for an additional $200,000 to cover costs of the job.

Clarke also wants to know why the appropriation was exceeded on the job of converting two floors of the State Office Building for legislative offices.

Last year the lawmakers appropriated $1.28 million for the job. But more than $1.5 million in contracts were awarded, and the secretary of state now is asking for a $200,000 deficiency appropriation.

Red Cross Instructor Helps Man to Breathe

A Red Cross first aid instructor, who completed the first "Multi-Media First Aid Training Program" for industrial and business firm employees, offered by the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter, effectively put to use his training in aiding a fellow employee suffering an acute respiratory attack.

Clifford Duniphan, 633 Chauveau Ave., Mitchell, a timer at American Steel Foundries, applied his emergency first aid knowledge to restore the breathing of Debbie Jones, 56, of East St. Louis.

It was learned that Jones, a chipper at American Steel, suddenly became ill and his breathing seriously impaired in the clock room at the plant shortly before starting work at 6:45 a.m. June 13.

Several ASF employees were in the room, including Duniphan, who immediately applied artificial respiration to Jones by pushing on the distressed man's chest until he revived and began breathing.

Jones was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated by a physician who cited the emergency action taken by Duniphan as contributing to the ailing man's recovery. Jones was released from hospital June 16.

Last month, Duniphan was commended at the annual Red Cross dinner for his 17 year service as a local first aid instructor. His wife, Mrs. Maxine Duniphan, first aid chairman for the Tri-City Chapter, also has instructed classes for 17 years.

Dolls in Small Girl's Collection Depict Dress of Countries, Eras of History

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

A little girl's world is never complete without a special doll that becomes a part of her life as companion and best friend to create the childhood fantasy so important to growing up.

Shawn Lewis, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Kathy) Krusec, 1023 Rodgers Ave., Mitchell, is more fortunate than most children. She has over 83 dolls in her collection.

Selecting a particular doll for playtime when confiding secrets and dreams completes a small girl's private world, is an easy task for Shawn. In a white cabinet with glass doors are many dolls to suit any need.

The cabinet is in a typical little girl's room decorated in pink and white with a fluffy pink carpet. Completing the decor is a white canopy bed, complete with pink ruffled bedspread.

Collecting dolls as a hobby started with a Madame Alexander doll that belonged to her mother when she was 11 years old. In anticipation of some day having a daughter, Mrs. Krusec kept the doll and after her daughter received two Japanese dolls in authentic costume, the child developed an avid interest in acquiring dolls of all sizes, shapes and from many countries.

Replica from India

One of the latest additions, a replica from India, came a few weeks ago from Shawn's great-grandmother, Mrs. Katie Henry. Mrs. Henry resides with her son-in-law and daughter, Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Charles Smith, who presently are stationed in Hawaii with the Air Force. Through their travels they have sent to the young girl dolls representing countries where they have visited or lived.

The oldest doll in the collection is a Minerva doll that dates back to 1896. The delicate china head has movable eyes and the arms and feet are joined with a fragile handmade wire connection.

She also has another doll similar to the Minerva that has minute earrings set in the very tiny ears of the china head. The doll is dressed in original clothes. This particular doll, from New Orleans area, and a few other dolls, has been valued at $75 by professional collectors, according to Mrs. Krusec.

"Many of the unusual and older dolls I have located at rummage sales or flea markets at a price of 50 to 75 cents," Mrs. Krusec said.

A doll that will be remembered by those who watched television during the late 1940 and early 1950's would be Howdy Doody. The early TV favorite is dressed in the original costume and his mouth and jaw is movable, and could be used as a dummy by a ventriloquist.

Favorite Dancing Doll

Shawn's favorite doll is a dancing girl from Thailand and the smallest doll in the collection is a tiny lady from West Berlin that measures about two inches.

Unusual pairs of dolls include a bride and groom created of crepe paper, complete down to the tiniest detail of a bridal couple, and a man and woman made of prunes, walnuts and raisins dressed in country-style attire.

There are American Indian dolls, oriental dolls, a delightful leprechaun from Ireland, a dancing girl in Finnish costume and a large and beautiful lady from Old Mexico included in the treasured group.

trimmed with fringe and the youthful collector also has a quartet of story book dolls, a little dutch girl from Holland and a unique doll made by a milk company.

Other members of the family are also interested in amassing items depicting a certain interest. Shawn's 5-year-old brother Kelly has many items and animals made of brass.

He has a pair of miniature cowboy boots, a donkey, covered wagon, miniature trains, a small bell, head and bust of Abraham Lincoln and several antique brass dogs.

Mr. Krusec and his son also make and paint model cars in their spare time while Mrs. Krusec has a good start on a collection of small elephants. Some are made of china and others are carved of ivory and wood.

The Krusecs also have a 5-month-old daughter, Kristy, who will no doubt follow the family tradition in collecting when she is old enough to select a personal preference.

Venice police found the hatchet on the roof and reported a hole had been broken into the home.
